KEY POINTS

- Jesus's resurrection was not only proof of victory but the beginning of a mission for every believer.
- The Great Commission is a command to go, not an invitation to stay comfortable.
- Doubt and hesitation are common, but they cannot be an excuse for disobedience.
- The message of the mission is repentance and the forgiveness of sins through Jesus Christ.
- Discipleship is not complete until disciples make more disciples.
- The Holy Spirit empowers believers to live on mission beyond their own strength.
- Everyday moments and ordinary interactions are opportunities to share the gospel.

DISCUSSION

- Where do you see yourself in the Great Commission—actively going or holding back?
- What fears or doubts tend to cause you to shrink back from sharing your faith?
- How would you clearly explain the message of forgiveness of sins to someone else?
- Who has God placed in your life right now that you may be avoiding or overlooking?
- How does the promise of the Holy Spirit change your confidence in living on mission?
- In what ways can you move from simply attending church to actively going with the gospel?
